The Interchange Video Program

Video Resource Book 1

The Interchange Video Program has been completely redone and contains brand new, fully updated videos to accompany each level of the Interchange series. The Interchange Video Program consists of DVDs and Video Resource Books, corresponding to each level of the Interchange series.

Available separately, the DVDs:

- reinforce and extend the topics and language presented in the Student's Book unit.
- present students with engaging models of realistic spoken English.
- provide students with additional listening and speaking practice.
- contain entertaining, free-standing sequences from a variety of genres such as documentaries, game shows, humorous skits, interviews, profiles, travelogues, and TV programs.

This Video Resource Book contains:

- photocopiable worksheets with previewing, viewing, and post-viewing activities
- suggestions for using the video in the classroom
- photocopiable video transcripts

1 CULTURE

In North America, people go to conferences to learn more about their work, their hobbies, and other interests. At conferences, people usually don't know each other. They wear name tags to make it easier to meet each other and to help them remember new names. People at conferences usually use each other's first names.

Where do people wear name tags in your country?
When people meet new people at places like conferences, do they use first names or titles (Ms., Mrs., Mr., Professor) with last names?
